Foreword

*Nor fate, nor chance, nor any star commands
Success and failure—nought but your own hands.
To fail, and fail again, and none the less
Keep faith and heart,—that also is success;
To gather gold or fame and be not true
To truth and self, oh, that is failure too.*

1919 Class Song

(Words and Music by Marion J. Williams)

I

When first we came to Wheaton
As Freshmen full of fun,
We thought the rules a nuisance
And from them tried to run.
But now to them we're loyal,
And always will be true
To the class of 1919,
And to the college blue.

II

If e'er in fancy stealing
Down the paths of years to come,
Past memories returning
Of friendships once begun,
We'll always think of '19,
The class we hold so dear,
And of the many pleasures
Throughout our college years.

CHORUS

Dear Alma Mater, we sing to you,
We'll sing thy praises forever,
Pledge of our love and our loyalty
All bound in friendship together.
Just as the Wheaton banner raised,
We'll be e'er true blue,
Faithful always in our love,
'19, here's to you.

Classes coming, classes going—
Would that some of you might stay!
Wheaton's sure to miss you sorely,
Seniors, when you go away.

'Twill be hard to fill your places,
Though of course we'll have to try.
You must cast your mantles on us,
Seniors, when you say goodbye.

1920 Class Song

Words by FLORENCE BRIGHAM Music by ELEANOR M. COFRAN

Nineteen-seventeen, eighteen, nineteen,
Twenty is our greatest year;
Each of all the four short sessions
Seeming best as it draws near.
You may know us by our color—
Richest green of nature's store.
In "conjunctis viribus" we Find our motto ever more.

We have worn the holly berry,
And the fragrant evergreen,
But the lily-of-the-valley
Is our lovely flower queen.
Nineteen hundred Twenty gaily
Sings from happy hearts and free,
Pledging loyalty to Wheaton
Wheresoever it may be.

Seventh Heaven

These are the saints and the angels, who dwell in the heavenly regions,
 Highest in Metcalf they dwell. How did they come to abide there?
 First of all Carolyn went, because of her "Christian" position.
 Next for helping the poor, in community service all aiding,
 Marjorie then took her place. A breath of contentment and sweetness
 Wafted our Carrie aloft, near to the ladder of heaven.
 Alma, the classical student, in eager pursuit of Olympus, Strayed here and stayed here, content,—it equalled the place where the gods dwell!

For there was a lyrical poet, extolling in accents divine
 The deeds of these highest. And there, a mistress of form and of color,
 Sinsheimer, the heavenly painter, created their likeness immortal.
 By the wings of her love was uplifted Rebecca, to clouds filled with day-dreams.

The low, pleading voice of the "Palmer" could not be denied at the gateway;

It gained her a refuge and haven. While all were absorbed in the tale, Unnoticed she entered, so small was the "Abbott."—The portals were closing.

A flash, a wild scramble, and last through the entrance squeezed Martha,
 the late one!

These are the saints and the angels, who dwell in the heavenly regions.
 But have they no earthly attachments? Ah yes, they have sisters below them,

Lost in the depths of Avernus, to whom they descend on occasions!

The Tragics

Above the gentle reader sees
 A motley group of tragedies
 But they are merely in disguise
 Because their place of lodging lies
 In Tragedy Alley.

Katie seems to have gone quite mad,
 But why? Just because she has had
 To give us demerits, we were so bad.
 Under that mammoth head there hides
 "Baby Dos" with the blasé eyes!
 Household Ec., messes she could not bake,
 So a mess of her life our "Pin" will make!
 What is more tragic than Dotty the Grind,
 And Peg who seems to leave college behind?
 Judging from "Cutie's" giggle gay,
 She's no reason to drown her life away.
 Anna has no need of a rope.
 Her marks are higher than most could hope.
 To prison stripes our Willie did fall,
 To pay for late dashes down the hall!
 Of all the tragedies these lines unfurl
 Gin thinks the worst is a homely girl!
 But be assured, in reality,
 They all are a happy family!

The Larcom Elite

At Wheaton on Fridays at half after four
You'll see a huge auto drawn up at the door.
The reason? Why ask it? 'Tis Larcom Elite
Away for the week-end, their usual feat.

In caps and in bonnets, their finest array,
(The Elite all look stunning when going away)
They step in the motor to start on their trip
Each one of them carrying a shiny black grip.

And while other poor mortals remain here to grind,
The Larcom Elite some other joys find.
Till Monday at nine they return for a rest
And, worn to a rag, try to study with zest!

1921 Class Song

(Words and Music by Bethiah F. Waterman)

I

Long years ago when we wore braids,
And the paddle was the rule,
We used to dream of profs and days
When college would be our school;
They tried to scare us many a time,
With hazing, rules and demerits;
How green we'd be, and as small as a dime,
How hard we'd work for credits.

II

Oh, one is for the spirit of our class,
That binds us as one for aye,
Nine is no, from first to last,
Not a college like ours to-day;
Two is for dear '19 and us,
Together we make one,
1—9—21, like our violet we trust
We will ever be loyal to Wheaton.

CHORUS

Dear old college days,
We've dreamt of thee always,
And now that we're here,
Oh, Wheaton dear,
We'll never regret how we just had to stick to it
Dear old Wheaton days,
Every heart repays,
Wheaton, here's to you!

1922 Class Song

Words by:

HELEN BORHECK MEYERS

Music by:

HELEN HAYDEN KNIGHT

I

To Wheaton we will raise our song
Of loyalty and friendship true
In the red she'll always see the courage
Of the class of 22.

CHORUS

All hail our Alma Mater
May the blue wave o'er all the rest
But to 22 we pledge firm friendship
To the class that we love best.

II

When first we came as little Freshmen
We brought a Peace with Victory
And ever since the red's been waving
O'er all victoriously.

(Words and Music by: MARION E. LORD)

I

Wheaton, with pleasure we greet thee,
We gladly lift our song of praise.
Tho' we may be far away,
We will sing of thee always,
May Wheaton live for aye.
Time halts his flight while we recall—
Years wisely spent in thy dear halls.
Fountain of truth, we freely pledge
Honor, service, youth to thee.

CHORUS

Wheaton dear will be our song
As years will pass along.
Shout with voices loud and clear, oh Wheaton.
Sing her glories, praise her name,
Chant of the victories we claim;
Shout with voices loud and clear, "Wheaton for aye."
We pledge our loyalty.
Wheaton, Alma Mater fair,
We sing to thee, we sing to thee.

Student Government Association

The annual welcome party of the Student Government Association was omitted this year as one of the many precautions against influenza.

The other two Student Government entertainments of the year, however, quite made up for the omission in pleasure. A Christmas party was given on the Saturday evening before vacation. Each class gave one twenty-minute stunt. Especial interest and enthusiasm were given to this feature of the party with the result that the stunts were unusually attractive and entertaining. The Christmas spirit and patriotism were combined. Interclass singing also took place around the Christmas tree in front of the gymnasium.

February first afforded a delightful compensation for the labors and agonies of "mid-years." There was dancing from two-thirty to five-thirty. Instead of the usual musical program, the evening entertainment was given by the Dramatic Society.

Owing to the prevalence of influenza the annual meeting of the Student Government Conference, which was to have been held at Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, was given up. The Student Government Board feels that this has meant considerable loss to the association here, because Wheaton has felt a stimulus and inspiration from reports of these conferences, and the Board has been greatly helped in solving many of its problems by suggestions received at the conference.

The Board has tried this year to emphasize personal responsibility among the girls as members of Student Government, and the fact that Student Government to be successful can not mean a minimum of responsibility and a maximum of privileges.

The Athletic Association

The Athletic Association, by the splendid support of the student body, has been enabled to carry on its activities with great ease and efficiency during the past year.

The athletic year began, in the fall, with field day. A base ball and hockey game, together with track events, constituted the program. Tennis and swimming as usual were minor sports during the fall term and hockey the major sport. Practice was enthusiastically attended and the season culminated in a series of class games as well as two outside games against Sargent and Radcliffe. The Varsity team had excellent coaching but was unable to hold out against Sargent who won from us with a score of 7 to 0. We were defeated at Radcliffe by the same score. Due to weather conditions the class series was not finished in the fall. The final game will be played in the spring; so far the senior team is in the lead with the sophomores competing for the championship.

In November the regular indoor gymnasium classes began. The results of the work done there were shown in the annual meet held in March. The Sophomore class won by a small margin. The meet was one of the best ever held at Wheaton.

Basket-ball, as usual, has played a large part in the athletic activities. No outside games were played but the class series aroused interest and enthusiasm. The 1919 team was easily victorious, winning the championship for the fourth time. An innovation, this year, was the Alumnae-Student game which came the night of the indoor meet. This was the only game in which the honorary varsity had an opportunity to play as a team. In the picking of the varsity at the end of the class series, three members of the Senior team, one of the Junior, one of the Sophomore and one of the Freshman team were fortunate in securing places.

With the spring, tennis and base ball have become the chief sports. In tennis the usual tournament, singles and doubles, is being played off. The base ball series will for the first time be a feature of spring work. We also hope for a swimming meet to help out a very successful athletic year.

The Liberty Day Celebration, the Hallow'een party, the Washington's Birthday party, and the Vaudeville Show were all given under the auspices of the association. The parties were very successful and the Vaudeville redounded very much to the credit of our local talent and originality.

The Young Women's Christian Association

The work of the Y. W. C. A. has covered practically the same grounds this year as last. The Welcome Party was held as usual in September, a distinguishing feature of it being the appropriation of what would otherwise have been spent on refreshments to Y. M. C. A. work. The annual December sale was held and this brought in to the Association about $50.

The Wednesday evening meetings have been especially interesting and helpful all the year. The girls have all felt this and responded well in all open meetings. The opening of every meeting to the members of the faculty has brought an improvement also. In the fall and at the end of the year a Candle Recognition Service was held, the first as a welcoming of new members into the Y. W. C. A., the second as a final way of deepening the meaning of the Association for the girls. As usual throughout the year there have been occasionally outside speakers, and meetings under I. C. S. A.

In the spring discussion classes were held for those who wished to attend, led by upper classmen. Those who attended were mostly Silver Bay girls. Last year's delegation to Silver Bay was as enthusiastic over the ten days on Lake George as other Wheaton delegations have been. And they were splendid representatives of Wheaton, both in the work and play. The delegation for 1918 was as follows:—

GLADYS E. JEWETT, '19	Delegation Leader
G. JANE ORCUTT, '20	Student Government Representative
JULIA STEERE, '19	Recreation Leader

Intercollegiate Community Service Association

The work of the I. C. S. A. has been very successful this year. That its influence is growing here may be seen from the large increase in membership since last year. There are over 150 members of the Association, about 78 per cent of the entire college enrollment, while last year there were about 40 members.

There have been several outside speakers on I. C. S. A. work, both at Y. W. C. A. meetings and at Vespers. Besides these outside reminders, there have been mass meetings to appeal for volunteer workers to take classes in Norton and Dodgeville. This branch of the I. C. S. A. work has attracted the girls a great deal, and there has been much enthusiasm shown in all the classes.

To raise money, the Annual Circus was held in November, and with the proceeds Thanksgiving baskets were carried to several families in Norton; and at Christmas, besides carrying baskets, the I. C. S. A. played Santa Claus to the children of poor families. In some cases fruit and flowers were sent to a few shut-ins of the town. The girls also dressed dolls for the Denison House. Another entertainment to raise money was that given at college in the spring by the Boston Working Girls' Club, which presented a little play written by one of its members.

There are several other branches of the I. C. S. A. work which have been carried on this year. The girls have made calls on some of the shut-ins of Norton. There have been also entertainments given by the students at the Dodgeville settlement house and the Attleboro sanitarium. All in all we ought to be proud of the great advance in I. C. S. A. work during 1918-19.

The leaders of the Norton and Dodgeville classes for the past year are as follows:—

Bureau of Vocational Opportunities

This bureau was organized two years ago as the outgrowth of the first intercollegiate vocational conference held at Wheaton in February, 1917. Since then the Bureau has accomplished many things. Research committees have been appointed to collect and make accessible information concerning various occupations. By means of a card catalogue the bureau knows the vocation to which each student is looking forward as well as her particular preparation for this line of work and an effort is being made to keep in touch with openings for college women in the business and professional world. Altho Radcliffe held the intercollegiate conference this year Wheaton held a small but very successful conference of its own.

The Dramatic Association was reorganized this year with a larger membership than ever before. Its activities were not limited to merely one performance at mid-year as in past years—then three one-act plays were presented—but also under its auspices Mr. Edward B. Whitney of the Whitney Studios of Platform Art, entertained an appreciative audience with a reading of the play, "The Fortune Hunter."

The proceeds of all the entertainments given by the Dramatic Association are to be expended for out-of-door scenery for the gymnasium stage.

The Camp Devens Entertainments

Wheaton College presented three entertainments at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., on the nights of February 14th, 22nd and 28th.

The first entertainment consisted of readings and vocal solos and was under the personal supervision of Miss Laura M. Plonk head of the Dramatic Department.

February 22nd the play "Neighbors," given at College on the night of the Mid-year dance was presented. There were also vocal solos by Charlotte Bates and Sarah Lindsay and violin solos by Helen Power.

The last entertainment took place February 28th. Pauline Sherburne and Gladys Jewett gave an exhibition of aesthetic dancing and Florence Brigham and Phyllis Coombs rendered several songs. There were also some very interesting readings.

All these entertainments were much appreciated by the soldiers at Camp Devens and especially by the "Over-Seas" boys. The appreciation of these men is well expressed in a letter written to the chairman of the Entertainment Committee by Mr. R. H. Hall head of the Y. M. C. A. activities at Ayer. He said in part, "May I take this opportunity to express to you and the other kind friends who played such a large part in making the success of the entertainments given by your college for the soldiers at Camp Devens, the appreciation of these men and the Y. M. C. A. for your hearty cooperation. We regret that your college will not be represented here for several weeks to come. For the fine, wholesome, uplifting entertainments you have staged here have made a lasting impression upon the men. Wheaton College may well be proud of the character of the different programs presented and of the conduct of those taking part."

May Day

MAY SEVENTEENTH

All true Wheaton girls love May Day and each year begin to look forward to it almost as soon as second semester starts. The suspense and excitement before the Queen is announced, the picturesque procession across campus to the throne in Larcom doorway, the dancing before Her Majesty, make the whole afternoon one of the most delightful of the year. The program is to be carried out as usual this year, except for some changes in the entertainment following the procession.

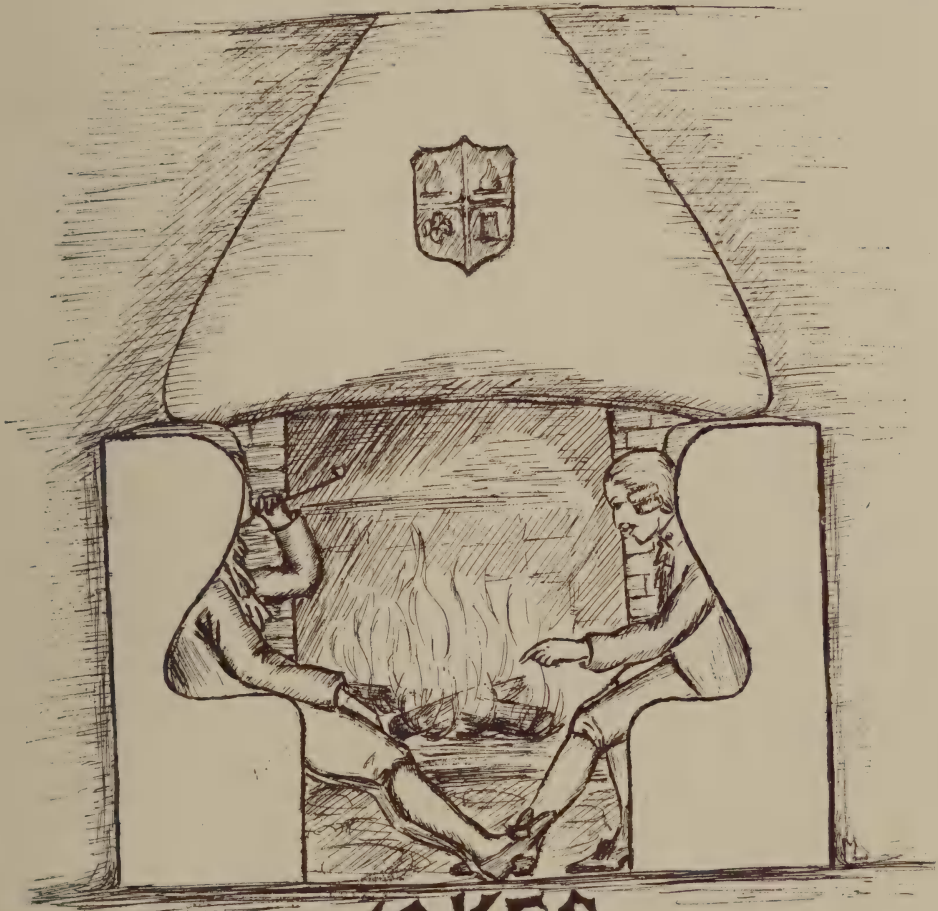

Commencement

JUNE, NINETEEN HUNDRED NINETEEN

Commencement Week will include the usual events this year although the order is to be changed in a few cases. Not only the senior class, but every student, is glad that a senior play will be given; this was omitted last year on account of its expense. The program for Commencement Week will be:

PSYCHE REUNION	June 7th
BACCALAUREATE SUNDAY	June 8th
CLASS DAY EXERCISES	June 9th
ALUMNAE MEETING
GARDEN PARTY
CONCERT GIVEN UNDER THE DIRECTION OF PROFESSOR TUCKER
COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES	June 10th

JOKES

Jokes

UNDERGRADUATE HUMOR.

There was a man who had a little dog named "enza". He opened the door and influenza.

GRADUATE HUMOR.

If a drunken man got in jail, could you bail him out?

Gladys Jewett (in Cabinet): Yes, it seems to me that the Athletic Association is pretty well steered this year.

HEARD IN PSYCHOLOGY.

Dr. McIntyre (closing the class for the Christmas vacation): Work, Fatigue and Sleep will be our first topic after we get back.

Dr. McIntyre (explaining that the mere presence of the stimulus is insufficient to set off an emotion): For instance a bear in a cage would not arouse the emotion fear. In other words, it is not the bare presence which makes one afraid.

History of Education: Herbert Spencer's theory is that all females are larger than males. Julia Steere: How did Spencer get around a large woman? Dr. McIntyre: Perhaps he never tried.

Before and after the Junior Wedding: I can't find a collar to save my neck! Yes, the wedding went off without a hitch!

Disadvantages of not taking "Novel": Marj. Steele:—Did you ever read Cooper's "The Mohawk Trail?"

Inconveniences of Art: The engineer always has dinner at 12, the Time when the pictures are due. Inconsiderate of the engineer!

Choir-Leader: You forward ones remember to keep one ear on the organ.

The faculty are trying to make the chapel exercises more vital to the student:—

Morning after the marks came out. Hymn number 158: Through good report and evil, Lord.

Morning of the Junior-Freshman wedding. Matthew 25:6. And at midnight there was a cry made, "Behold the bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him."

Sunday evening before Finals. Hymn number 171. Work for the night is coming.

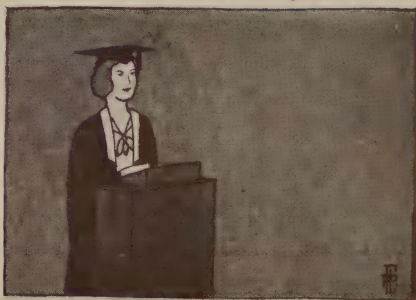

"TEMPUS FUGIT"

1915 - BEING ORDERED

"HURRY UP, GIRLS! IT'S ALMOST QUARTER-PAST."

1919 - ORDERING

"THE MEETING WILL PLEASE COME TO ORDER."

J. P. Morgan: How did your pictures from Godechaux come out? Margot Sawyer: I haven't got the proofs yet. J. P.: I hear he flatters a lot. Margot: He didn't say anything to me.

Miss Croff (taking attendance): Do you see anybody who isn't here?

H. Sinsheimer's favorite joke: I hear the Kaiser got in Dutch.

Typical Freshman (Gecar Feseer). Characteristics—Baker's Chocolate—Saturday Evening Post.

The vagaries of "Seventh Heaven". Sinsheimer (sewing): "Hey, Wilder, got a black-eye?" Wilder: "No, sorry, but I've got a snap."

Marj. Palmer (in quest of information): Oh, Miss Nash, what is gutta-percha? We haven't come to it in Household Economics yet.

Doris Townsend (calling up Tragedy stairs): Say, what's Grace Tregoning's first name?

SCENE—Wheaton campus on a dark and stormy night. Sounds of footsteps on boardwalk as couples go to mail.

TIME—6.30 p. m.

AFFABLE JUNIOR (in relieved voice): No mass meeting to-night.

GREEN AND GULLIBLE FRESHMAN: Isn't that nice! It's such a dripsy night.

PASSING SENIOR (whispering hoarsely to Freshman): Meeting of the Vernea in Mary Lyon A at 7.

G. & G. FRESHMAN (startled): Dear me, what is the Vernea?

AFF. JUNIOR (still affable): Don't know I'm sure.

ACT II.

SCENE—Emerson Hall at 6 p. m. following night. Bright lights. Shrill voices. Occasional crash of a dish.

G. & G. FRESH. (pleasantly): I found out about the Vernea.

AFF. JUNIOR: Oh, did you?

G. & G. FRESH.: Yes, that girl must have thought I was a member.

AFF. JUNIOR: Member?

G. & G. FRESH.: Yes, it was the German Club, you know, the Deutscher Vernea.

NAVAL INQUIRY.

Gin. Bake: Where is the Naval Reserve?

Peg At.: You mean the Naval Reserve? Whom do you want?

Gin. Bake: "Tom Jones."

Peg At. (searching diligently): He's gone on a furlough.

Gin. Bake: Furlough! You mean absent without leave.

Peg At.: Report it to Headquarters.

To cultivate exactness of speech, we should suggest taking "Novel"—
He got Blinded in his eyes.
Dickens was bright in his brains.
She went there on her own feet.

Wall-Flower (watching couples going to mid-year dance): Who is that man with Legs?

Becky Eliot: Well, if they're going to put oleo on the table and take the cars off, I'm going home.

Miss Otis (explaining the difficulties of studio): Yes indeed! To do hands is a feat.

Dottie Clark's two methods of expressing satisfaction—Isn't it charming? It's de luxe!

Inquisitive Freshman (looking in at the zoo lab.): What class is this? Alma Magoun (dissecting an earth worm): Interior decoration.

Miss Otis (wishing the class to study the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, a copy of which is on the studio table): Now, tomorrow, we'll meet in the studio and all sit around the ceiling.

Heard over the Telephone: From Wheaton: Hello, has Nike been sent out to Wheaton? Type Setter (calling to the rear): Hey, has Nickie abdicated yet?

Miss Croff (commenting on the popularity of Adam Bede): Even the common workingman who couldn't read, read that book.

Miss Bancroft (expostulating on the disappearance of reserve books): I'm afraid it will soon be necessary to start a shelf for lost books.

Freshman Monroe (explaining the internal workings of the Aurelia): The mouth opens into the gastric cavity and the indigestion begins.

Miss Martin was showing a plasticene model of the daughter, bud of the Hydra when Freshman Broughton inquired, "Are they always daughters?"

First Freshman: What did you get on your theme? Second Freshman (showing paper with "Punc." in margin): Punk, and she didn't even spell it right!

THE FERTILITY OF THE FRESHMAN IMAGINATION.

(Exam.) I. The council of Nicaea was held in 325 to decide what the religion of the Roman Catholic Church should be, whether Aryanism or Atheism. They decided on Atheism and it's been Atheism ever since.

II. The Hegira was when Mohammed took his flea from Mecca.

THE SOPHOMORES HOLD A CLOSE SECOND.

(Exam.) I. The ceilings of the Gothic cathedrals are supported by growing vaults.

Pax Eiscum

You are invited to assist in the burial of the "Old Jokes of Wheaton," long since dead but not departed. This is to be the final interment. May they hereafter sleep in peace, undisturbed by those upperclassmen who hitherto have delighted in rousing them to torture Freshmen. May those Freshmen who have long nights lain in the throes of agony wrestling with the higher the fewer, offer up thanks to the Junior Staff for services rendered.

The chief mourners are as follows:

Tradition: who has kept these jokes as long alive by constant care and nurture.

Precedent: who has had them present to welcome each new class as it enters.

The Heart of the Undergraduate: who loves the inane and rejoices in the feeling of superiority gained by her own knowledge that these jokes had not and never will have any point.

Therefore may we never disturb the ashes of "The Old Jokes of Wheaton."

What, no soap?

Didn't you always think these were your eyebrows?

How's your dog?

Innocent and inexperienced Freshmen: How did these jokes get in here? Sophisticated upperclassman: Survival of the fittest, my dear.

THE LITTLE TRAGEDIES OF LIFE

The inhabitants of Tragedy have for a long time been awaiting anxiously the third great event to happen in their midst. The Ghost which appeared the night before Chrsitmas caused the first alarm. The second event, the Metcalf fire, started on Tragedy the night that Peg Wiley put on hair-tonic. We are glad to announce to all our subscribers that now we have learned what the third is to be. As yet it is without dire results; let us hope that it will remain so. Dot Newton and Eleanor Genthner have taken a suite on Tragedy Alley. This is perhaps the most surprising of all of the little tragedies of life, inasmuch as there are no suites on Tragedy. However we have perfect faith in their ability to produce one.

We would suggest that Dot Clark have a private cloak-room installed in Emerson for her red sweater. It would be less apt to be injured there, than if left lying on the table.

MR. TUCKER: If a man came to America and became a citizen, you'd say he was Americanized; or if he adopted England, you'd say he was Anglicized; but what would you say of a man who became a French citizen.

ALLEGRA MAYNARD: You'd say he was Franchised.

MISS HOUGH (at table, watching the "butters" pass speedily from one hand to another): Oh, see the butter fly.

EVELYN McADAMS (as a glass of water is tipped over unexpectedly at the same moment): and see the water fall.

A "Good Anytime" Dessert

Such a dish of plain Jell-O as Bobbie and Jack welcome with clapping of hands and cries of "Oh, Good-e-e-e!" is good enough for anybody.

But just now, when "substitutes" are still having their day, Jell-O, whipped like cream, is one of the most useful and enjoyable of all foods.

What particularly interests college girls is the fact that whipped Jell-O—say in the form of a pineapple Bavarian cream—is a treat, and one that any girl can provide.

The new Jell-O Book tells how to make all the whipped Jell-O dishes and it will be sent to any address.

Jell-O is put up in six pure fruit flavors: Strawberry, Raspberry, Lemon, Orange, Cherry, Chocolate, and is sold by all grocers, 2 packages for 25 cents.
